Following the application for 720 seats by Pacific Blue, Qantas seeks to amend its application for 125 seats, submitted on 15 July, to apply for an allocation of the remaining 48 seats available on the Indonesia route.

While the requirement for 125 seats to support the upgrade of aircraft on selected services effective from 13 August remains, this amended application is submitted on the basis that the remaining 77 seats, available as excess capacity under the bilateral air services agreement between Australia and Indonesia, will be approved by the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government as part of the timetable filing process as confirmed in our discussion with the Department of 6 August.

Regards
Jane
